Special Requirements

- The Game Description should give enough information to make a potential player know what the game is, and enticing enough that a potential player will want to play!
- Keep your number of players reasonable, in that you need a certain number of players to make the game enjoyable, but remember, overcrowding can be a problem too.
- We are at a premium for space at Rock-Con 2006 Please make your table requests reasonable. Still, if you've got a great game that needs lots of tables, don't hesitate to ask, as the players will certainly enjoy the spectacle!
- Tell us any Special Requirements that you have, but again, please keep these reasonable. We have limited ability to provide power, but it can be done if absolutely required. If you need to set up the night before (for a large miniatures game, for example), please note that. If players need to bring something, please note that too. Generally speaking, it is best to avoid any "player requirements" unless absolutely necessary (such as decks of cards for CCG tournaments, or figures for a Warhammer tournament):
 - No pornographic material
 - No firearms, ammunition, knives, swords or explosives (nor replicas without prior permission from Noble Miniatures)
 - No illegal material (under the laws of the United States or the State of Illinois)
